

Supplemental Fig. S1. Serum sodium level and time point when delayed postoperative hyponatremia was initially diagnosed ($n=23$) according to (A) the presence of symptom, (B) preemptive administration of hydrocortisone before the diagnosis of postoperative hyponatremia, (C) pathologic diagnosis, and (D) the presence of transient central diabetes insipidus (CDI).